RESPONSE TO Line 6(b): MEMBERSHIP

San Diego Speculative Fiction Society, Inc. is a membership corporation, with a single class of membership. The number of members is unlimited subject to the membership criteria below.

Corporate membership is open to persons who have volunteered for, or helped to organize, at least two corporate programs over the past three years. In general, such volunteer opportunities exist for any member of the public who is interested in furthering the educational mission of the corporation.

A corporate member may participate in the governance of the corporation as described in our Bylaws, but otherwise enjoys no special privileges.

Our corporate membership recruitment is primarily achieved through the operation of our annual conference. Volunteers became eligible for membership with the conclusion of our October, 2003 conference, and we are still in the process of admitting that first group of members. We expect this process to be complete by October 2004.

RESPONSE TO Line 6(d): SHARING OF FACILITIES

The principal offices of the Corporation are maintained at the home of two of the corporation's Directors: John Kusters and Michael Thomas. Use of this property is provided without charge of any kind.

RESPONSE TO Line 7(a): ORGANIZING DOCUMENT

An endorsed copy of our Articles of Incorporation is included as Exhibit "B".

RESPONSE TO Line 7(b): BYLAWS

RESPONSE TO Line 7(d): SPECIFIC PURPOSES

San Diego Speculative Fiction Society, Inc. strives to increase public awareness and discussion regarding "Speculative Fiction" arts: science fiction, fantasy, horror, dystopia, and utopia.

These narrative forms have become an important part of the popular media, but the serious themes and issues explored by the genre do not often receive the attention they deserve. We seek to educate the public and promote discussion regarding those themes and ideas, as they evidence themselves in speculative fiction literature as well as in movies, television, and other media forms.

RESPONSE TO Line 7(e): PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

San Diego Speculative Fiction Society, Inc. promotes public discourse about speculative fiction principally through the operation of an annual literary conference. Planned future activities include a community lecture/discussion series and a youth speculative-fiction writing contest.

Our annual conference "Conjecture" gathers together members of the public for a weekend of lectures and discussions pertaining to all aspects of speculative fiction. We intend this meeting to take place in the fall of each year; our first took place Oct 18-20, 2002, last year's Oct 3-5, 2003, and this year's meeting is scheduled for Oct. 1-3, 2004.

RESPONSE TO Line 7(e):

At each of our past conferences, approximately 350 attendees -- both as speakers and as audience members -- participated in 100+ program items. Sessions covered a wide variety of topics including these examples:

Theories of History - Alternative Timelines: Various theories have been advanced in attempts to explain history; the "Great Man" hypothesis and the "Tides of History" are just two. How could the various theories of history influence potential alternate histories?

Cold Storage and Civilization: We all have time travel, at the rate of one minute per minute, forward only. But stasis technologies such as cryogenics can fast-forward one's perception of time. Discuss what such technologies could do to culture. Examine Vernor Vinge's bobbles, Orson Scott Card's somec, and other examples from SF literature.

Using SF as an Educational Tool: SF traditionally receives a very cool reception in the classroom. How can SF be effectively used in schools to increase literacy and learning?

Outsider Protagonists: Race, Gender, Species: It can be difficult for a mainstream reader to identify with characters that are different in terms of race, gender, or biology. The panelists will discuss why this is a difficult problem, and provide examples of successful portrayals of "other".

These hour-long lecture/discussion sessions form the backbone of each conference program, and directly further our goal of promoting public discussion about speculative fiction. Other related program items include an art exhibition, writing workshops, and genre-related folk music performances.

Starting in late 2004, we plan to expand our activities to include a regular discussion or lecture session on topics such as the panels described above. These events will be free and open to the general public, and will be advertised at local libraries and through the local media.

Finally, in the future we plan to reach schoolchildren in the San Diego area through sponsorship of a youth speculative-fiction writing contest. This activity will be led by volunteers drawn from our pool of members, who will coordinate with local area teachers. Our contest will be modeled after similar successful programs in the Baltimore and Salt Lake City regions.

At present, the operation of our annual conference consumes 100% of our time and resources. Once our future programs are underway, we expect the conference to consume 85% of our time and resources, and the other two programs each to consume 7.5%.

RESPONSE TO Line 7(f):

SOURCES OF FUNDING

Our principal source of financial support is the gross registration receipts from our annual conference. We currently collect a $45 registration fee from each person attending the conference, with various discounts given to encourage early registration.

Incidental sources, amounting to less than 10% of our income, will include advertising in our conference's program guide, commissions and fees related to art exhibition consignment sales, and donations.

Our membership dues are $36 per year. Our long-term goal is to admit 50-75 members to the corporation. We do not expect these dues to be a significant portion of our income.

At present, our fundraising program consists of encouraging wider participation in our annual conference. In the future, we plan to solicit donations to support our youth speculative-fiction writing contest.
